

Hill resident to demonstrate new product at Blackstone's

ON THURSDAY, MARCH 11, FROM 5:30 to 7 p.m., Blackstone's of Beacon Hill, 46 Charles St., will be hosting local Beacon Hill resident and entrepreneur, Tim McCaffery, CEO of Lime Design, who will be demonstrating his new business product, the Barmaid Drink Rimmer (a device for rimming glasses with salt and/or sugar) – the world's first hand-held drink rimmer.

Friends and neighbors can test out this new product for themselves during the event with "intoxicating beverages" for adults.

The first 20 people to purchase a Barmaid Drink Rimmer and Sugar or Salt Cocktail set that night will receive a free sugar or salt sampler, courtesy of Lime

Design and Blackstone's.

"The Barmaid drink rimmer lets you rim your cocktail your way," McCaffery said. "With a push of the button, the Barmaid dispenses your spice to the edge of your glass. Want more? Press more. Want less? Press Less.

McCaffery added, "No more skipping the rim on your favorite beverage, enjoy specialty beverages at the barbecue, at the concert, at the game, and anywhere else you are enjoying life.

Imagine how much fun your next outing on the Esplanade will be?

Or that performance of Shakespeare on the Common?"
